The Web-based School Information and Data Management System I developed has transformed school operations by automating student records, attendance, and grading, improving efficiency, reducing administrative workload, and minimizing errors. The system fosters transparency and accountability, allowing schools to focus more on delivering quality education. This innovation has created a more organized and effective learning environment, boosting student outcomes and making school management more efficient.